☞ Notice.

DIFFICULTIES arising from the nature of the following work, the publisher has been compelled to remove to Philadelphia for the better execution of his plan. The editorial department has in consequence fallen into other hands. Mr. ALLEN's present engagement rendering it impossible to superintend it in another city. The friends and relations of the different signers to the Declaration of Independence are therefore requested to direct their favors to the publisher, No. 443, Market-street, Philadelphia.

A Biography of the Signers

OF THE

Declaration of Independence,

Accompanied with Plates.

To which will be annexed a History of the Proceedings of Congress, during the passage of the Law, and the Declaration itself, with the fac simile Engravings of the Signatures.

By JOHN SANDERSON.

TO THE PUBLIC.

When we consider the personal qualities of the statesmen whose names are affixed to the Declaration of Independence, the perilous occasion which demanded the exertion of their wisdom and deliberation, and the influence of their councils on the interests of mankind, we must acknowledge that very rarely a more imposing spectacle has been offered to the world, and we shall seek in vain in the annals of nations, for an event more worthy of commemoration, and of being cherished forever in the hearts of a grateful and generous people. The love of independence is interwoven with the frame and constitution of the human mind. It is almost the first sentiment that animates the infant's features in the cradle; and amongst all the actions and enterprizes of man, none has awaked into activity a greater exertion of the virtuous energies of his nature, none has excited a greater warmth of veneration, and has more imperious claims upon our gratitude, than resistance to tyranny and political aggression.

In all republican states the first tribute of genius has been paid to the patriot or the hero who has promoted the cause of liberty and maintained the independence and dignity of man. The animated canvas and breathing marble have rescued his features from the grasp of death, and the pen of the historian has inscribed the achievements to the imperishable records of fame. It would indeed be no favorable prognostic of the perpetuity of our republican institutions to discover an insensibility to the obligations we owe the memory of the illustrious patrons of American freedom. They have raised us, by their magnanimity, from the arbitrary dominion of a foreign power, to the distinguished elevation of a sovereign and independent people; they have asserted and maintained the imprescriptible rights of humanity by the "mutual pledge of their pledge of their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honors;" and, as long as virtue holds her empire in the hearts of their successors, the example of these generous benefactors will not be lost to the world; their names will not pass away nor be forgotten, or their glorious deeds be confounded in the common and casual transaction of life.—Ingratitude is a vice that in nations, as well as individuals, indicates the last degree of degeneracy and corruption; it is a vice that implies the absence of every virtue; it was in the age of Caligula that the name of the Scipios was proscribed, that the state of Brutus brought death on its possessor.

"The glory of our ancestors is the light of posterity," and the homage of the living cannot be offered to the merits of the illustrious dead with an effectual or sterile admiration. Great and splendid actions will seldom be achieved by men who have humble or ordinary objects in prospect. It is by contemplating the life and character of those who are marked out from the multitude by their eminent qualities, that we become emulous of their virtues and their renown. The trophies of Miltiades interrupted the sleeps of Themistocles; and Theseus, hearing the exploits of Hercules, was fired with his spirit, and became the successful rival of his fame. The rude savage of the desert listens with rapture to the deeds of his ancestors, and hangs around his hut the emblems of his father's valour.

More need not be said to enforce the utility of the publication we have undertaken, and which we now submit to the patronage of our fellow-citizens, with a hope, that from the liberality of their encouragement, we shall be able to present it to the public worthy of their approbation. We must depend for the illustration of many of the characters of our biography, upon the generosity of their surviving relatives and friends, to furnish us with whatever interesting materials may be in their possession; for which, with our grateful acknowledgments, we promise a copy of the entire work as a compensation.

CONDITIONS.

I. The work will be published in numbers of half volumes of 200 pages, octavo, and contained in ten numbers. To the first will be prefixed an appropriate frontis-piece—and the work will be commenced with the declaration of independence, with engraved fac similes of the signatures, and a compendious detail of the proceedings of congress, during the passage of the law. Each of the lives, unless when it is impracticable, will be preceded by a likeness of the person, engraved by the best artists in the United States.

II. It will be printed on fine paper, made expressly for the purpose, and delivered to subscribers at two dollars and fifty cents per number, payable on delivery.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1819.

The President of the United States has recognized JONATHAN SWIFT, Esq. as Consul of his Majesty the King of the Netherlands for the port of Alexandria, and places thereto belonging.

Darien, Geo. Nov. 15.

Saturday last terminated the trial of Col. John L. Hopkins, (for killing McQueen McIntosh, in a rencontre in the streets of Darien, in March last,) which commenced on Monday. His honor Judge Berrien concluded his eloquent and impressive charge to the jury, at 3 o'clock, and at 7, the jury returned a verdict of manslaughter.

Mr. Drysdale opened the argument on the part of the state, with much learning and eloquence.

The counsel for the prisoner, Messrs. D'Lyon, Wilde, Charlton, Nichol, Sheftail, Cuyler and Walker, conducted the defence with great ability; and perhaps the eloquence displayed by them, severally, has never been surpassed on a similar occasion.

Mr. Law, (the solicitor general's reply,) did equal honor to his head and his heart; and whilst he vigorously met and answered he arguments of the prisoner's counsels, and endeavored, with eloquence and learning, to establish the charge exhibited by the indictment, he could not avoid evincing occasionally the feelings of the man.

The prisoner, previous to the charge of the court, begged leave to address the jury, which was immediately assented to by his honor. His address was eloquent and affecting, and manifested talents which we hope to see, at some future day, advantageously exerted for society and his country. His sentence is three years' imprisonment in the Penitentiary. [Gaz.

FURTHER PROOFS OF THE NECESSITY OF THE OCCUPATION OF FLORIDA.

Nassau, Oct. 2.

The Indians who arrived here on Wednesday last, from Florida, are come to solicit some supplies. The Chief has with him a proclamation issued by Admiral Cochrane and General Keane, at the time of proceeding against New-Orleans. We believe an application has been made to the commander in chief for assistance, but they have had no encouragement to expect a compliance with their demands, the amity subsisting between our government and the United States precluding any measure tending to increase or promote a hostile disposition between these people and the subjects of the states. They are desirous of getting to Jamaica, but their visit can be to as little effect as it is here.—They represent themselves as driven from their homes and hunted as wild deer; that there are about 2000 of them, and that their greatest enemies are the Cowetas, a nation like themselves, who, having made terms with the Americans, are set on by them to harass and annihilate their tribe. The number arrived are 28, and, being destitute of the means of support, are furnished, on the score of humanity, with rations, and allowed to lodge in one of the barracks.

REMARKABLE DISCOVERY.

We have heard a singular story within a few days, from several respectable sources, respecting the discovery of a human skeleleton, in a remote part of Litchfield, which it is thought will lead to the discovery of a murder, now for the first time supposed to have been committed there about 24 years since.—It seems that, on repairing an old house, formerly occupied by Mr. ———, and enlarging the cellar, the skeleton of a man was found, in a singular position, under what was formerly a bed room. This circumstance immediately brought to recollection a number of suspicious incidents, which occurred about the time before mentioned; but which, disconnected with the human bones, were not much regarded. Among these incidents were the following: A man in this neighborhood undertook a long journey, leaving his wife as the housekeeper of the aforesaid Mr. ———. Several months afterwards, the latter took up a stray horse, saddle and bridle, had them advertised, and no owner appearing, they were sold according to law, Not long after this event, the woman was said to have recived a letter announcing the death of her husband; and some time afterwards she married the said ———. The union was not a very happy one, and at times, when ill treated, the wife was heard to threaten to expose her husband. Now there was nothing very singular in all these occurrences, excepting the saddle and bridle found upon the stray horse, and had it not been for the bones, they probably would never have been thought of again. We understand the grand jury have had the subject under consideration, and have sent for the aforesaid ——— and wife who several years since removed to ———, where they now reside.

LATEST FOREIGN NEWS.

By the arrival here last evening of the fast sailing ship Magnet, Captain Ogden, in 25 days from Liverpool, the editors of the Commercial Advertiser have received, from their London correspondent London papers to the 24th of October; and from their Liverpool correspondent, papers of that city to the 25th all inclusive.

Our papers are filled with accounts of the increasing spirit of discord from various parts of the kingdom. The government apprehending an approaching struggle, are preparing to meet it with promptitude and vigor. With this view they have resolved to add ten thousand men to the standing army. Earl Fitz William, who had consented to preside at the meeting of Reformers in York, was immediately removed from the office of Lord Lieutenant of the West Riding of York. These and other measures of government increase the tone of the Radicals as they are termed; and there is reason to apprehend, that there is nothing, unless it be the prompt exercise of the strong arm of power, that can save that country from a sanguinary civil war. To us it appears, that the course pursued by the Radical Reformers, is calculated, not to accomplish the object ostensibly in view, (the amelioration of the condition of the people) but render the burdens of the people ten fold more oppressive than they now are, and the government tenfold more despotic, than it has been for centuries past.

To shew our readers, that the present state of England is indeed alarming, and that the alarm is deeply felt in London we will here quote a paragraph from our latest paper, the Sunday Monitor of the 14th October. The writer, it will be perceived censures both the Ministers and Reformers, and calls on the public to defend the constitution and the throne.

"Alarming state of the Country.—Never, at any former period, were we called upon more strongly to protest against the measures of government than at the present. It is indeed an affair of peculiar delicacy, but of fearful import. Its former character would incline us to avoid it, but the latter leaves us without a choice. The situation of the country is at this moment so dreadful, that no man of common sense can view it without a horrid presentment of the future. The axe is laid to the tree. The foundations of our faith are plucked up—the main pillars of our morality are shaken, Infidelity walks abroad in the open day, a hideous and corrupted mass. The political Demagogue and the Blasphemer of Religion have shaken hands together. In them there is no trust or safety. To what are they opposed? Lifeless masses of heavy Divinity—the foolishness of superstition, or the madness of enthusiasm. Political profligacy. The laws derided—the nobility degraded—the people impoverished and desperate—the government blind and stupid.—Good God! how shall we treat this subject so as to awaken both sidss to their danger? We love our country and our countrymen—we glory in the Constitution—and we are ready to lay down our lives for the protection of the throne. But of what avail is our loyalty, or our love, when the Constitution, in which our only safety rested, is beleagured round, and the ministers, who should watch over its safety, and the people who should rise up in its defence, are both, with rapid strides, hastening to its destruction. To stop their mad advance seems almost a hopeless task. Yet we will not despair. While one fragment of the great edifice, which our ancestors constructed, remains, we shall be found at our post.—We will take our stand by its tottering base, and survive or perish with it."

The revenue of the realm has fallen off, during the last Quarter, compared with the corresponding period of last year, to the amount of more than one million one hundred and fifty thousand pounds.

The diminution of the revenue, and the threatening aspect of the internal state of the Kingdom, have produced a corresponding effect upon the funds. Consols, which, early in October was sold at 71, had fallen at our latest date, (the 24th) to 56½. and Omnium, done at 6 per cent premium, had fallen to 2½ discount, making a difference, in the course of a few days, of 8½ pr. ct.

Special messengers were sent abroad to the absent members of the Cabinet, requiring their immediate return.

A verdict of wilful murder was found, but not yet officially rendered, by the Coroner's Jury, against the Manchester Magistrates and Cavalry. It was expected, that, previous to its promulgation, a bill of indemnity would be enacted by parliament.

On the 23d of October, a report was circulated on Change, that Lord Castlereagh had been assassinated by a butcher. It produced the momentary effect of reducing stocks one per cent, but the rumor soon vanished, and the stocks recovered the ground they had lost.

A continental paper mentions, that "Count Mantholon, came to Europe with his wife from St. Helena, disguised as a servant; that he has brought several letters from Bonaparte concealed in his clothes, and the three first volumes of Bonaparte's Memoirs which are to be forwarded to New-York for publication.

The princess of Wales, it is said, has passed through Paris and Lyons; but whether she intended to visit England or Germany was not known.

The legislative bodies of France were to convene on or about the middle of November.

It is said that the Spanish expedition to S. America had been abandoned, and the troops at Cadiz had dispersed over the country.

From the London Courier, Oct. 19.

The information received from different parts of the kingdom, of the progress of sedition, becomes, as it might have been expected of more and more importance. The Radicals rejoicing in the impulse given to their cause by the few foolish Whigs whom they have deluded, no longer conceal their detestable projects, but speak openly, and without disguise of the "Revolution already begun."

Such is the impression produced on the minds of good and loyal men, where the spirit of insurrection against the constitution chiefly prevails, that some of them are proceeding with all the vigor in their power, as individuals, to protect each other against the danger they apprehend.

"When bad men conspire good men must associate." This was the awful warning of BURKE. But what can individual efforts do against the open violence of an armed populace, intent upon the destruction of property and the subversion of all that restrains their licentiousness? Effectual protection can, at the present moment, proceed only from those in whom the constitution has placed the power of the state; and we should tremble for the fate of this envied land, if we saw any want of vigilance or courage in the government.

The monarchy of France was surrendered to an infuriated mob, bearding the king upon his throne, by the timidity and laxity of his ministers. An early effort on the part of that government had stopped those torrents of blood which afterwards swept away both the throne and the altar.

We congratulate our peaceful fellow-countrymen, that our government is fully alive to the danger which threatens us. Their determination to assemble the legislature was a decisive indication of their sense of the present awful times, and we have no doubt their precautionary measures, until parliament shall have met, will continue to keep pace with the ferocious activity of our modern Catalin's.

As a measure of indispensable precaution in the present reduced state of the army, an addition of 10,000 men is to be immediately made to the protecting force of the country. This will be accomplished in the most efficient and economical manner, by calling into activity those who are receiving from the state the rewards of their former services, and placing them under the command of officers already upon the pension establishment.—These veterans, so distinguished in the annals of the country, will we have no doubt, in the protection of its internal peace, display the vigor they have shown in asserting its foreign glory.

The services of a part of the regular army will be in like manner rendered available, by relieving the soldiers now in the garrisons and dock-yards, and by substituting marines in their place. With this view, 20 men will be added to each company of marines, making together 11,600 men.

Earl Fitzwilliam is removed from the office of lord lieutenant and Custos-Rotulorum of the West Riding of the county of York; a wise and seasonable measure.

The leading part which his lordship was induced to take in signing and circulating the requisition for a meeting at this, critical period, in a county in which he was lord lieutenant, his personal attendance at that meeting, his entire concurrence with the resolutions and address, and his public approbation of all the proceedings, must have effectually destroyed that right understanding, that fair and honorable confidence, which is at all times desirable, but at a crisis like the present, is indispensable in the official intercourse which must take place between the government and a lord lieutenant. With two authorities so publicly opposed to each other, all candid co-operation must be at an end; it was impossible, therefore, that his lordship should continue in his office at a moment when the safety of the country requires that the energy of the state should be exerted for its preservation.

From the Sunday Monitor, of Oct. 24.

Yesterday the following audacious address was widely circulated. We give it publicity because it carries its remedy along with it, and is a just specimen of the revolutionary principle upon which the Radicals, and their supporters, act:

United Britons and Irishmen!!!

You have asked for Reform! You have been slaughtered with the sword, yet justice is delayed! Have you power? Exercise it with judgment! London meets on Monday, November 1st, 1819, at twelve o'clock at noon Finsbury Market-place, Sun street, Finsbury square, to address the Prince for a Redress of Grievances.

Let all industrious classes consult their own good; the idle, the intolerant, and the sordid have long consulted theirs contrary to reason, humanity and justice! Myriads of Britons alive to liberty meet to give one imposing evidence of their love of freedom, their will to be freemen, and to make one more appeal to the prince to throw himself into the arms of a high spirited and generous people, against the tyranny of an unfeeling mercenary, and merciless oligarchy, whose measures have long disgraced the crown, oppressed industry, and at last brought ruin into the land! United Nations call on one man to declare him the friend of humanity, justice and liberty! And unlike his predecessors, instead of incorporating a town or village, a people call upon him to immortalize his name by enfranchising whole nations. Can one man, will one man resist the voice of millions? Will millions forever be the dupes of knaves? Forbid it, ye departed spirits of the brave, whose crimson blood bathed so oft the sacred shrine of liberty! Forbid it, ye living patriots, whose hearts bleed for your dead and dying, for your famished and famishing country folks! Forbid it, every man who has a soul to be free, and courage to resist oppression! No longer listen to the wily words of cowards, knaves and plunderers! Your miseries are intolerable! The day of deliverance is at hand. Your destinies remain with yourselves. Your fathers became free by their courage. Tyrants were never subdued by cowardly submission. Britons will never turn renegadoes and apostatize from the heroic love of liberty and justice displayed by their Sydneys and Hampdens. The times are now portentous. Thousands of the most useful people die daily of want—the cries of the oppressed rise up to heaven, and call aloud for justice upon the guilty authors of their sufferings. But let the people pause on the past, and once more offer to a prince the hand of good fellowship! Try, in the awful circumstances of the times, whether he has the wisdom to take it, to press it to his heart, and exclaim aloud—"I grieve for your wrongs! but I will now be your friend!!!" Try if the tools of faction dare now advise him against a sound policy to reject the voice of reason, of justice and of mercy. Britons, no longer trifle with your fate; demand your rights! Awake to your dangers. Will nothing arouse you? Behold the ghosts of your mangled friends, they cry aloud "Be firm! be bold! if you would avoid our fate! but preserve peace! keep good order, respect property! be not first to offend, yet

OPPOSE MASSACRE AND MURDER!!

TREATY NOT RATIFIED.

Captain Reid, of the Hornet, reached this city this morning, and proceeded for Washington in the steam boat line. He is bearer of despatches from our minister at Madrid, but it is unknown whether he has the treaty or not. As the period for the meeting of Congress is so nearly arrived, we may expect soon to be informed of the actual posture of our affairs with Spain.

We are just informed by a gentleman who has conversed with captain Reid, that at the time of his leaving Madrid, the treaty remained unratified, and it was confidently believed that it never would be ratified.

Capt. Reid, of the U. S ship Hornet, arrived in Washington on Thursday last; that vessel having arrived at N. York on the 22d inst. in 19 days from Gibraltar.

We understand that he brings information that the treaty is NOT RATIFIED—and that things remain much in the state in which our last advices left them. Mr. Forsyth remains at Madrid, and a Minister from Spain is to be forthwith sent to this country. If further particulars come to our knowledge, they shall be hereafter noticed.

It is proper to state, that a report did prevail, for a day or two, at Madrid, that the treaty was ratified During the prevalence of this report a letter was written, in which originated the report, which has run through the country, and which gained general belief, that the treaty was ratified about the 20th ult. THE COW TREE.

Mr. Humboldt, in the fourth vol[ume] his Personal Narrative, gives lowing account of this wonder vegetable world.

Amid the great number of c[urious] prenomena which have presented selves to me in the course of my t[ravels]
I confess there are few that ha[ve] powerfully affected my imaginati[on] the aspect of the cow tree.—Wha[t] relates to milk, whatever regards inspires an interest which is not m[ere] that of the physical knowledge of t[he] but is connected with another or[der] ideas and sentiments. We can scar[cely] conceive how the human race could ist without farinaceous substances without that nourishing juice which breast of the mother contains, and w[hich] is appropriated to the long feebleness the infant. The amylaceous matter corn, the object of religious veneri[ation] among so many nations, ancient modern, is diffused in the seeds and posited in the roots of vegetables;
which serves us as an aliment, appe[ars] to us exclusively the produce of an organization. Such are the impr[es]sions we have received in our ear[ly] infancy; such is also the source of astonishment which seizes us at the pect of the tree just described. I not here the solemn shades of fore[sts]
the majestic course of rivers, the m[ou]tains wrapped in eternal frosts, excite our emotion. A few drops vegetable juice recal to our minds the powerfulness and fecundity of ture. On the barren flank of rock gro[wing]
a tree with coriaceous and dry lea[ves]
Its large woody roots can scarcely pe[n]trate into the stone. For seve[ral] months of the year not a single sho[wer] moistens its foliage. Its branches pear dead and dried; but when its tru[nk] is pierced, there flows from it a sw[eet] and nourishing milk. It is at the sing of the sun that this vegetable fou[n]tain is most abundant. The blacks a[nd] natives are then seen hastening from quarters, furnished with large bowls receive the milk, which grows yell[ow] and thickens at its surface. Some em[-]ploy their bowls under the tree itself others carry the juice home to the children. We seem to see the fami[ly] of a shepherd, who distributes the mi[lk] to his flock.

I have described the sensation whi[ch]
the cow tree awakes in the mind of th[e] traveller, at the first view. In examin[-]ing the physical properties of anim[als] and vegetable products, science displays them as closely linked together; but strips them of what is marvellous, and perhaps also of a part of their charms of what excited our astonishment.—N[o]thing appears isolated; the chemi[cal] principles that were believed culiar to animals are found in plants, a common chain links together all organic nature.

PASSAGE ACROSS THE ISTHMUS OF DARIEN.

Baron Humboldt offers nine points, which have each been suggested as suitable points from which a canal across from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean could be made. General Abercrombie made some minute surveys on the same subject, some years ago, and laid his calculation and estimate of the labor before the British ministry; but nothing has been done. It is supposed, that in case an independent government should be established in Mexico, the project will be revived. The waters of the Gulf are said to be considerably higher than those in the Pacific Ocean, owing to the trade winds, which blowing from the east, heap them up and force them to escape through the straits of Florida thereby occasioning what we call the Gulf Stream.

By cutting a passage across the isthmus of Darien, or rather through a flat country, between the head of Nicaragua, in 12 deg. north latitude, says Dampier, and the coast of Nicoga, where there is no mountain, would make only 20 miles across a Savannah country covered with trees; then the waters would rush through the opening, and by degrees wear a fine and wide channel, till the two oceans would become nearly on the same level.

The navigation to the East Indies would be shortened near two thousand miles. The waters would recede from the coasts all round the Gulf, and increase the territories of the bordering countries.

The West India Islands would grow every day while the channel was wearing. Mariners would no longer go by the Gulf Stream from Florida to Newfoundland. Let all the Nations of the World, who are interested in accomplishing this object, make a joint attempt, and the work will be soon completed.—We hope statesmen will reflect seriously on this point, which is brought to our remembrance by a resolution of the Ohio Legislature. THE PRINCESS OF WALES.

The following letter, which we received about three weeks since, bearing the Italian Post-mark but forebore to insert, fearing it might be, what, in the phraseology of the day, is denomenated a hoax, acquires an air of authenticity from the circumstance of her Royal Highness being immediately expected at Paris, having arrived incog. (as the Countess Oldi) with her suite, consisting of nine persons, at Lyons, on the night of the 12th inst. and aatended the Theatre there on the following evening. We therefore lay it before our readers without abridgement or correction:

"SIR—Having read a Paragrafe in the Lausanne newes paper I trust you will be so kind to Let the answer also be put in your Englesh newes paper.—Ther is much reason to believe that the Princess of Wales returns to England to ask her selfe for a trial at Westminster Hall, where she her selfe will make her own defence, as her Honour is agane attacked by false Traducers or foul Spys, and by servants which were sent from ther Servis and Palace, for ther bad conduct have all been Bought up, for very high Prize, to Traduce ther former Benefactress, we are also authorised to Annunciate that all her Debts in Itali have been paid, and thous in England will be in a short period Although the Princess of Wales is the only one of the Royal Family who has never askt for a augmentation of income, and When five years ago the Noble and Generous Nation Voted in Parliament fifty Thousand Pounds Sterling per annum, She only accepted 35,000 Pounds Sterling. She never wandes under anny Consideration to be at Burden to the Nation, She only Comes to Demand Justice from that Noble Nation agenst her Enemys. * * * *

Extracts from a Law

Of the Corporation to provide for the speedy extinguishment of Fire, &c.

Sec 1. That every proprietor of any dwelling house, or store house within the limits of the corporation, shall, at his or her own expence, provide as many fire buckets, made of good and suitable leather, and containing at least two and a half gallons, as shall be equal in number to the stories in such house. Provided, That no proprietor shall, in any case be compelled to provide more than three buckets for one house. Every proprietor who shall neglect to procure the proper number of buckets in the manner herein directed, shall forfeit and pay one dollar per month for each bucket he shall so neglect to procure. The proprietors of all dwelling houses and store houses which shall hereafter be erected within the corporation, shall furnish the same with buckets in the manner before prescribed, within two months after such houses shall be occupied; or failing to do so, shall be subject to the penalties before mentioned.

2. Where the proprietor of any dwelling house or store house residing out of the limits of the corporation, shall neglect to comply with the requisitions of this act, the occupier of such house shall within two months after coming to the possession thereof, procure the necessary buckets; and failing to provide the same, shall be subject to the like penalties as are in such case imposed on the proprietor.

5. It shall be the duty of the superintendent of police, once in six months at least, to visit the houses within the limits of the corporation to examine and take an account of the buckets belonging to such houses, and to report to the mayor the names of all persons who shall neglect to provide and keep the same, according to the requisitions of this act.

Fifty Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY from the subscriber, on Thursday, the 11th inst. a negro man, named DICK, who sometimes calls himself Dick Douglas. He is a small man about 5 feet 6 inches high, and is not a very black man. I purchased him from the estate of Edgar McCarty, esq. Cedar Grove, Fairfax county, Va. and it is likely that he may be lurking about that neighborhood or Colchester, as he has a wife at capt. Berry's of the latter place; or he may have gone to Loudoun county, as he has lived there in the neighborhood of Wm. McCarty and John McCarty, near Leesburg. He had on and took with him an old grey cloth coat and a brown do pantaloons of drab colored domestic cloth. He is much addicted to liquor. and is a coarse shoemaker. I will give 20 dollars if taken in the district of Columbia. Thirty dollars if taken in Fairfax county, and the above reward if apprehended in any other place, and secured so that I get him again; and reasonable charges if brought home. WM. B. STUART.

Tar.

FOUR HUNDRED bls tar, in good order and for sale by ABIJAH ADAMS,

District of Columbia,

County of Alexandria, to wit.

ON the petition of SANDFORD ANDERSON an insolvent debtor, confined in the jail of Alexandria county, for debt; Notice is hereby given to the creditors of the said Sandford Anderson, that on the first Monday in Dec. next, at nine o'clock, A. M. at the court-house of said county, the oath prescribed by an act of the Congress of the United States, entitled "an act for the relief of insolvent debtors in the district of Columbia," will be administered to the said insolvent, and a trustee appointed, unless sufficient cause to the contrary be then and there shown. Ordered, that this notice be published three times a week for two weeks, before that day.
By order of the Hon. Wm. Cranch, chief judge of the United States Circuit Court of the District of Columbia.

100 Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY from the subscriber, living near Aldie, Loudoun county, Virginia, on the night of the 11th inst. a negro man, who calls his name NED BIAYS. He is a shrewd, intelligent negro, about 5 feet 7 or 8 inches high; 30 years of age, well made, active and polite. Had on when he went away, a sky colored coat, and corded pantaloons. His right eye sore, apparently occasioned by a blow, the blood having settled around it. His ears have been pierced, and had green silk in them when he went away. It is expected he is now lurking about Fairfax court-house and Aldie. The above Ned Biays ran away on the night of the 25th of last Aug and was caught on the 11th inst. on the night of which he effected his elopement by drawing the staple to which he was fastened by the handle of a pan, while there was no person in the kitchen but himself. He was caught on the 11th inst. a few miles below Aldie, but I think it improbable that he has gone near the same place again. I will give 100 dollars if he is taken out of the county, and fifty if taken in the county. and secured so that I get him again, and all reasonable charges if brought home. GEO. GULICK.
P. S. It is supposed that the said negro has obtained papers of freedom, or a free pass, or something of the kind. G. G.

100 Dollars Reward.

I WILL give the above reward to any person who will return to my possession, negro LAWRENCE, who assumes the sirname of FENWICK. This fellow left my farm, on the Wicomico river, in Charles county, Md. on the 6th July, in consequence of his own outrageous conduct towards my overseer. He is a negro of a fine erect figure, good features, asmooth black skin, rather above the middle stature, of a youthful appearance for one of thirty years of age, and of great plausibility and natural smartness. His ears grow remarkably close to his head, and on the inside of his lower lip he has a white mark or spot. I purchased him 4 years ago of the estate of Mrs. P. H. Courts, of this county. I am led (by circumstances which have come to my knowledge since he absconded,) to believe that he will endeavor to make his way to King George county, Va.; should he not take this route, he will probably be met with in the District of Columbia, or in the upper counties of this state, on his way to Pennsylvania. I apprehend he will change his name, and if committed to jail, refuse to state to whom he belongs, as the misconduct which preceded his departure, & his absconding, have all appeared since to have been premeditated. He took all his clothes with him, of which he had a large number; among them—a new bearskin over-coat, a long close-bodied blue coat, a pair of striped jean pantaloons, one or more white waistcoats, besides many articles of coarse cloathing; these, however, he will probably exchange, or sell them for cash to defray his travelling expenses.
I will give the above reward to any person who will bring him home to me, or FIFTY DOLLARS if confined in jail, and notice given me, so that I recover him.—Should he be taken out of the state, I will also pay all reasonable costs and charges which may attend the bringing him home.

100 Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY on the 25th of April last, a man called NED, formerly the property of Mr. Fitzhugh, of Fairfax, and by him sold to Hepburn & Dundas. He had on when he went away an old country blue and white cloth coat, and kersey trowsers—his right hand in a sling, in consequence of the kick of a horse. Ned is a stupid looking fellow, and hesitates very much when he speaks. I will give fifty dollars if apprehended in the District, or the above reward for apprehending him out of the District, so that I get him again.

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,

Removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling,

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.
S. Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case: and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be governed by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.
N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.
S. Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment.

RAN away on the 28th of April, from the farm of the subscriber, in Dogue Neck, Fairfax Co. Virginia, negro HARRY, aged about twenty three years, about five feet ten inches high, very black, well built, has a considerable impediment in his speech, when spoken to evinces much confusion, and replies almost unintelligibly: had on when he left home, a much worn suit of domestic cloth. I have every reason to believe that he is endeavoring to pass for a free man, and as such went off in some of the bay craft during the late fishing season. All masters of vessels are forewarned from harboring or taking into their employ said negro, under penalty of having the law rigidly enforced against them.
